Determination of pH value

Objective

This test determine the amount of acid or alkali in the glove components.

Principle

The test consists in measuring the pH value from an aqueous extract of the glove material. The result corresponds to the pH value of each glove component and the conformity.

Type: Physical and mechanical test
Standard: NF EN 420 § 4.3.2
Product: Gloves
Criteria: Mechanical resistance

Last modified on 2025-04-16